"I feel truly fortunate to experience Africa's powerful raw energy, where creatures run free and wild in their natural habitat among indigenous people with age old traditions and rituals still intact. It will forever inspire my creativity and for that alone I owe much gratitude to beautiful Africa."

– Bobbie Goodrich

Award winning fine art photographer, Bobbie Goodrich, inspired by her love of nature and wildlife, will be conducting this exciting workshop at the Triple D. Her expertise will provide insight into understanding wildlife behavior to help you gain the ability to capture meaningful moments of your subject. Trained formally as a painter, she began photographing her subjects needing visual references for paintings. She soon learned that photography was her passion. Her limited edition photographs are exhibited in galleries and museum shows as well as licensed and published. She is a member of the NIK software team; traveling and producing workshops and photo tours throughout the country and Internationally.

Fusing photography and technology, Bobbie sensitively manipulates her images in the digital darkroom, "My process is highly intuitive and I draw upon the same principals required for creating a great painting. Within a frame there must be a center of interest, an understanding of tonal value, color, hard and soft edges, eliminating distracting elements, etc. The goal being imagery that evokes an emotional response from the viewer.

From raw capture to final print, you will explore and learn from a highly skilled and creative photographer. Demonstrating her unique techniques and working one on one, I in photoshop and NIK software, you will be inspired to delve deeper into your creativity. Acquiring the skills for taking your work to the next level. "My method of teaching is uncomplicated and focused, targeting only the appropriate software tools necessary for transforming your raw images into dramatic imagery. I teach all skill levels beginner to advanced.....everyone benefits from this learning and exploration"

We will photograph in the beautiful surroundings of the flathead area in Kalispell, Montana gateway to Glacier National Park. Early mornings will be spent photographing endangered species in the fresh powder snow and warm light. Animals may include wolves, bobcats, mountain lions, snow leopards, fox, Siberian Tiger, and grizzly bears. Afternoons will include post-production class, evaluating and learning new techniques for your imagery. We will photograph again in the early evening light. This is a unique opportunity to work with Bobbie in the field and in the digital lab. You will leave the workshop with a new perspective on photography!!
