As guests of the 7L Ranch, the filming sites will be located at the Bisset Ranch, located 20 miles from Mariposa, CA, a gateway to Yosemite NP. With the help of our hosts, professional photographers and local cattle ranchers Diane Crisp and Jim and Carlene Cunningham, a variety of filming locations were selected to include colorful rock outcroppings, beautiful crystal clear creeks and ponds, waterfalls, majestic old-growth oak trees, skyline and historic rock walls. The dates selected take advantage of the lush green spring vegetation and wildflowers abundant in the foothills of the Sierra Mountains which will blanket the landscape in many of the filming locations.

The 7L Ranch is a working cattle ranch and our hosts have agreed to assist us in planning an optional day with opportunities to photograph the hard working ranch hands moving and roping cattle, along with running horses. These sessions will be specially designed for photographers to give our guests the opportunity to capture true western scenes.

Each wildlife filming session consists of three days with Triple D" animals with a minimum of eight photo sessions guaranteed. The Triple "D" will provide the eight species for you to photograph and you will be able to participate in other optional sessions. Tentatively scheduled species include Mountain Lion, Grizzly Bear, Black Bear adult, Coyote, Wolves, Bobcat, Badger, Cross Fox and Red Fox.

Each day will start with the first available light with a running herd of horses and colorful wranglers along a crystal clear lake providing opportunities for beautiful reflections. Next, participants will photograph the horse herd accompanied by western dressed wrangler running through beautiful meadows. Photographers will then have the opportunity to film horseshoeing, roping and branding, and a cattle drive.
