

WINTER WILDLIFE PHOTOGRAPHY WORKSHOP

About the Workshop

This will be my 3rd winter at the ranch with clients and it is a really special time. The animals are at their finest with thick winter coats and with a snowy environment as a setting it is really quite dramatic. The animals love to romp in the snow! You'll come back from this one with amazing shots from a winter wonderland in Montana.

Without doubt this is the best if not the only time to photograph their Snow Leopard. In my wildlife brain images of these great cats when they are not in the snow, just seem off. I know most people love the big cats during these workshops, but the little animals like fishers, martens and fox are just great in the snow as well.

Another wrinkle in the schedule is that I've scheduled my workshop to sit next to one of Triple D's most popular events, their winter Western Horse session. This optional extension will be January 8-9th.

And finally...whew...there will be an opportunity to photograph some incredible birds of prey from a local rehab center. The birds cannot be released and have become animal ambassadors and are used to teach kids of all ages about conservation. We will pose these great birds in perfect light on perfect perches for perfect photography!

WILDLIFE WORKSHOPS

with Jeff Wendorff

Itinerary

Day 1 (January 9, 2013)

6:00PM ~ Holiday Inn Express

Arrive in time for an informal get together at the hotel. We'll have some time to meet each other and we'll go over what you can expect for the next few days including just how early you'll be getting up each day!

Days 2-4 (Jan 10-12, 2013)

These will be our primary workshop days. Plan to rise early in the morning so that we can be at our locations with the best light! The light will dictate our days activities and we'll shoot as long as we can with good light. We'll return to base in the middle of the day. You'll have time to forage for lunch, download your images, re-charge your batteries and then meet for that days classroom activities. This is the format we'll follow all 3 days.

Day 5 (Jan 13, 2013)

This day is a wild card. It will be used to make up any sessions that had to be canceled for some unplanned occurrence as well as for you to add a couple of more sessions. These extra sessions are $150 per person per species and some species will have a minimum number of participants for them to be available.

Day 6 (January 14, 2013)

Departure day. We are generally...GENERALLY, done by noon on the wild card day. So it may be possible for you to catch an afternoon flight on the 13th.

Itinerary with Optional Horse Roundup & Birds of Prey

Day 1 (January 7, 2013)

Arrival day in Kalispell.

Day 2 (January 8, 2013)

First thing in the morning we will be the optional ($225) birds of prey session. We can expect to photograph 3 birds of mixed species.

In the afternoon we will have our first optional ($550) session with cowboys, cowgirls, cowedogs and their horses in the sweet afternoon light. Bring a lot of memory cards because photographing a running herd of horses is so exhilarating and you may forget to stop pushing the shutter release.

Day 3 (January 9, 2013)

Bright and early and likely quite chilly we will again be photographing the horses in a different and location , but with the same intent...horses running through the snow!
